BUSY DAY IN DISTRICT COURT

District court has been grinding at a rapid rate during the past two days. The Forney case tried Monday, resulted in an acquittal. This morning a fine of $5,000 and to serve one year Buck Smith, charged with assault in jail with inclust to kill, was acquitted under instructions from the court. The accused had become involved in trouble at a party near Steedman some weeks ago in which he was alleged to have stabbed and severely wounded another boy. He was defended by J. F. McKeel.

The next case taken up was that of Wm. Isaacs charged with stabbing Bob Brashears at Franks on the night of Dec. 24. The jury was still out at out its policy of preparedness for any eventuality, the administration today, probably as a result of the cabinet meeting last night, decided to hurry 2,000 more marines either to Vera Cruz or within striking distance of Vera Cruz.

The official announcement is that the marines are bound for Guantanamo, the American naval base in Cuba. There is reason to believe that the marines are bound for Vera Cruz to augment the fighting force already assembled there on board the three battleships, Georgia, Nebraska and Vermont. These additional marines were hastily organized at Philadelphia and Norfolk today and will sail tomorrow. They will go on the transports Meade and Prairie.

Orders for the marines to move from the various stations to Norfolk and Philadelphia Navy Yards quickly followed President Taft's answer to President Madero's appeal for a continuance of the non-intervention policy of this administration. In that answer President Madero was told that the reports that this government has decided to intervene are "inaccurate."

VIRGINIAN WOULD BE ASSIST-ANT POSTMASTER GENERAL

Among the most prominently mentioned candidates for appointment under the Wilson administration is L E. Lookabill of historic Roanoke, Virginia who aspires to the office of fourth assistant postmaster-general.

As Mr. Lockabill has always been an enthusiastic worker for the party, and is a man of splendid ability, his chances are apparently very bright. From what the News knows of The twenty-eight other defendants the man it would be pleased to see him land the appointment, which were sentenced to terms ranging from nine months to a year in jail and to would no doubt prove well pleasing to the entire state of Oklahoma.

TO MEXICAN BORDER MEXICAN REVOLUTION

FIGHTING CONTINUES WITH BOTH SIDES MAKING CLAIMS OF SUCCESS.

City of Mexico, Feb. 17 .- (By Courier to Vera Cruz, Feb. 17)-Gen. Mondragon, in charge of the military operations for Gen. Diaz, on Sunday morning was confident of the success of the revolutionary movement. He was seen at the arsenal and had no hesitancy in conducting the Associated Press correspondent about the

The arsenal appeared to have suffered little from the Federal guns. Two shells had penetrated the southern wing of the building causing some desruction within, but it was saidand reports from the commanders appeared to bear out the assertion-that the number of dead and injured within the fortress was small, less than 100 all told.

The commissary department was well stocked with provisions and the Paymaster's department was shown to be provided with funds. The men are receiving 2 pesos per day and are said to be contentel and in good fighting spirit.

Gen. Mondragon gave the information that Gen. Diaz had received offers of money in substantial quantities from persons in the United States.

Forty men of Gen. Blanquet's division, it was asserted at the arsenal, joined Diaz Saturday night. Some of their officers accompanied them, and it was added that deserters from the federal lines entered the rebel positions every day. Gen. Mondragon attributed the few casualties in the rebel ranks to the poor aim of the government artillerymen.

Most of the federal shells, he said, pass high over his position, often falling in the federal ranks beyond.

It was the federal forces that precipitated hostilities during the armistice on Sunday. Operations were resumed without warning and the rebels fired upon the federals, who were seeking to advance their lines upon the west side of the arsenal.

The movement was observed by the outposts and the word was passed to Capt. Delgado, commander in charge of the rebels' west wing. He at once gave orders to check the advance.

HOUSE PASSES REDISTRICTING BILL

Oklahoma City, Ok., Feb. 17.—The House of Representatives passed on final roll call by vote of 71 to 20, hree democrate and all the republicans voting in the negative, a redistricting bill making seven congression al districts with democratic majorities and one wth a republican majority, based upon the vote in the last general election. The bill was whipped through a democratic cancus earlier in the day, where the test vote in its favor was 44 to 12, and it came to the floor of the house this afternoon as a party measure. The three democrates casting negative votes were released from the agreement. The districts are satisfactory to the three democrate now in congress from Oklahoma and are as follows:

EFFECTIVE WAY OF CLOSING A JOINT

Chickasha, Ok., Feb. 18.—District court opened this morning, resuming the January term, and will probably hold the entire week and part of next. Motions for new trials and demurrers were heard this morning and the ruling in the case of the State vs. Sam Cook and Dave Hill was handed down by Judge Frank M. Bailey, who ordered that the temporary injunction against the building at the corner of Second and Chickasha where the 'Mint' was formerly operated, should become permanent.

It was the court's ruling that the fixtures inside the building should remain in the possession of the sheriff, subject to the action, of the county commissioners, and further, that the building should remain locked for one year from this date.

"Long live Poincare."

The actual ceremony of the transfer of office was simplicity itself and consumed scarcely five minutes from the beginning to the end. In the Salon des Ambassadeurs, the largest of the reception rooms of the Elysee, the retiring president awaited the arrival of the man who was to succeed him in office. President Fallieres was surrounded by the members of the cabinet, delegations representing the senroses at a special low price. Ada ate and chamber of deputies, and the members of his military household.

President Fallieres address of greeting and the response of his successor were both brief. Both Mm. Poincare and Fallieres wore evening dress with the broad scarlet sashes of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor across their breasts. The presence of their military staffs gave brilliancy to the scene, the bright uniforms affording a pleasing touch of color against the sombre background.

At the hour of the inauguration ev ery military garrison in France thundered a salute of twenty-one guns The soldiers were given a half-holiday by order of the Minister of War.

Following the ceremony the former president and his family withdrew to their private apartment in the Rue Francois I. President Poincare did not remain long at the palace, returning to his former home, where his wife awaited him. Just when the president and Mme. Poincare will take up their permanent abode at the Elysee has not been announced. It is rumored that the palace is to be renovated and redecorated from basement to attic and that the new president and his wife will remain in their present home until the work is completed.

The extensive brushing up which Elysee is to undergo at the order of Mme Poincare is generally understood to mean that the palace will soon be the scene of social gayeties and official entertainments such as have seldom taken place within its walls during the seven years' occupancy of M. and Mme. Falliers, whose neglect of the social obligations attendant upon the office of chief executive of the nation and the mistress of Elysee has been a subject of much

A committee of five of the leading business men of the city was appointed to wait on the public officers of the county and city and state to them that a majority of the citizens desired to request them to keep their oaths of office and keep the booze joints and sporting houses closed.

After this committee was appointed the preachers took charge of the meeting until it closed. Rev. Cutiss, pastor of the Presbyterian church, with Rev. Lindsay, of the North Methodist church, are waging war on the wide open town proposition and at the pres ent outlook, seem to have won a complete victory. It is understood they have a promise from Mayor Smith to kee pthe city closed tight.

Bible Was Put Into Rhyme. Versifications, not only of the Psalms but of the other books of the Bible, were numerous in the sixteenth century. One of the most prolific versifiers was William Hunnis, who, under such fanciful titles as "Seven Sobs of a Sorrowful Soul for Sin," A Handful of Honeysuckles," "A Hiveful of Honey," etc., published a number of rhyming versions of Genesis and Job, which .are now worth their weight in gold to the biblio-

fourths of the term is gone and Mr

Legislator is assuming a worried look The cause of this look of worry on the countenance that but a few weeks ago went beamingly to the India temple is the thought of that unredeemed promise made the people last fall, the promise that useless offices would be abolished, that taxes would be reduced. The legislator made that promise in good faith, and he fully intended keeping it. But he has found he can't hence the worried look. Mr. Legislator is an honest man. He honestly wants to "make good." He made that promise in good faith, believing he could keep it, but he has found he can't. sence he don't know what to do about it. Mr. Legislatir is doing the best he can. He has found a few places where retrenchment can be ordered, and he has issued the order. He has found several minor offices that he can abolish by ordering some other officer to do the work, but he has figured up and finds that when it is all summed up the saving to the taxpayer is going to be so small that Tax Payer will not be satisfied. If the legislature abolished half the state offices the taxpayer would not be relieved much. If the leg islature could find some way to carry, on the state government without levying a cent of state tax the burden on Tax Payer would still be heavy gins. enough to make him groan. He must

Second Trial on Murder Charge.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Feb. 18 .-- The John Fritz murder case was called in the Clark circuit court today for its second trial. Fritz, an inmate of the Indiana reformatory here, is affected to have assaulted and killed his instructor, Hiram B. McWilliams, because the latter had reported him for refusal to work. The killing occurred on November 21, 1911. At the first trial Fritz was found guilty and sentenced to hang, but a reprieve as granted by Governor Marshall, and later a new trial was granted by the state supreme court. At the time of the alleged murder Fritz was serving a term for grand larceny. One of his brothers is also in the reformatory, and his father is serving a life sentence in the state prison at Michigan City.

You are Protected by Manufacturers

There are two kinds of manufac turers. The honest and the dis honest-the man who makes the best and the man who makes something inferior. One aims to build up a host of customers by advertising a worthy product at an honest price and the other hoodwinks the unwary by offering "something just as good" at a tempting price.

One takes you into his confidence and deals with you in the open. The other stoops to underhand practices, misrepresentation, and unfair business methods.

Manufacturers who advertise in THE NEWS are among those who protect you from the unscrupulous. The fact that they advertise proves that they have nothing to hide

Read the advertisements in the NEWS closely and constantly every day. Get acquainted with the manufactureres who protect you from "just as good" products by identifying their goods with distinctive brands, packages and names. It pays to advertise and it will pay you to read and heed the advertisements that appear every day in the NEWS.
